STREET BATTLES FEATURE STRIKE IN MILWAUKEE

First Major Daylight Disorders are Reported There Today

BULLETIN

Milwaukee, Wis., June 28—(AP)—A spokesman for the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company this afternoon said it was doubtful if the company would be able to maintain street car service throughout the afternoon. Carriers were returning their cars to their barns, declaring they had been followed by groups of men in automobiles who threatened them.

The service, admittedly more than 50 per cent below normal at noon, became worse during the afternoon as the cars were placed in the sheds. The utility offered no objections as employees brought the cars in. A spokesman declared they did not want their employees to place themselves in jeopardy.

It appeared likely that many people employed throughout the city would be left stranded during the evening rush hour. "Thumpers" appeared on street corners urging motorists to give them a lift.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 28—(AP)—Street fighting, the first instance of a major disorder during the daylight, broke out today at the Oakland avenue barns of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company as strike pickets pulled motorman John Nixon from his car and beat him and his guard, John Zak.

Detachments of pickets kicked in the car doors, smashed windows, and caused Nixon, one assailant struck him over the head with a control handle and he rolled out the door to the ground. Others in the crowd meanwhile felled Zak and kicked him in the stomach.

Police Powerless
Police of suburban Shorewood, where the barns are situated, were unable to rescue them.

Witnesses said Nixon fled from his assailants, away from the barns.

It was the first serious daylight assault, strike sympathizers hitherto having waited for the cover of darkness to hide partially their assaults on cars and employees of the utility.

A survey this morning revealed trolley service badly crippled and several bus lines virtually at a standstill.

Some thirty thousand persons—pickets, sympathizers, strikers and hordes of curious—laxed the strength of one-half of Milwaukee's 1,000 police officers last night in renewed disorders in the city's troubled utility situation.

58 Arrests Last Night
Fifty-eight persons, five of them women, were arrested for participating in violence to the company's property. Policemen and 12 others were taken to hospitals with injuries received from flying bricks and glass, tear gas, clubbing, and trampling in the surging masses.

Street car and bus service was suspended by the company, where members of three American Federation of Labor unions walked out on strike early Tuesday but shortly before 5 A. M. today first streetcars moved out of barns as pickets paraded at company property where eight hours before fighting and rioting occurred. Policemen stood on guard for any outbreaks today.

10,000 Milled About
The scene of the first riots on Tuesday night, the Klunkinckin avenue car barns and yards, again was the center of last night's trouble. More than ten thousand persons, police estimated, milled about until midnight.

Trouble started when the rioters began battering two streetcars. Motormen were dragged from the cars and beaten before police could interfere. Officers won little respect. Uniforms were ripped and their owners kicked and stoned.

One officer was stabbed in the back with a knife pick.

In West Allis, a suburb, 8,000 persons swooped upon the car barns, stopped 12 trains being brought in, smashed windows, ripped doors from their hinges and then bombarded the station windows with rocks.

Holds City "Liable"
Replying to a letter from S. B. Way, president of the company, which notified him the city would be held "liable" for property damage and injuries resulting from the utility strike, Daniel W. Hoan, Socialist mayor of Milwaukee, wrote Way today that he and the company "are solely responsible for the riots that have so far blotted the good name of this city."

Charging the utility magnate's attitude toward his employees, the public, the city and the federal government is "more arrogant than that of any ruler in the world." Mayor Hoan wrote Way "you are now witnessing the harvest of pent-up public indignation you yourself have aroused."

Caging of street cars with protecting wiring "is in fact acting as an open invitation to violence," the mayor wrote.

New Hot Wave Became More Intense Today

INVESTIGATORS HURT NATIONAL DEFENSE PLANS

Sec. of War Dern Hits at Delays Caused by Congressmen

Washington, June 28—(AP)—Secretary Dern told reporters that investigators of the War Department are impairing its national defense program.

He made a statement while a House committee heard testimony and denials that a General Motors representative proposed that Chevrolet, Chrysler and Ford companies split the government truck business.

Dern expressed concern at what he termed delay in getting the Army mechanization program started.

"I don't know why," he added, "the whole program of motorization and modernization of the Army and air corps should be held up by one phase of the investigation."

He referred to contract award delays which have been ordered since the investigation into purchase of Army equipment was started by the House committee.

"National defense is being seriously impaired by the delay in the procurement of this equipment because of the investigation," he said.

BURNS AGENCY IS BEATEN IN SUIT BY FREEPORTERS

$10,000 Damages Awarded Two Against Detective Agency

Chicago, June 28—(AP)—Charles Bloyer and Miles Lapp of Freeport won verdicts of $10,000 each from the William J. Burns International Detective Agency, Inc., in Circuit Court today.

They charged they were falsely arrested and beaten by private detectives employed by W. T. Rawleigh, millionaire patent medicine and extract manufacturer of Freeport, who had been threatened by an extortionist.

The verdict was returned sealed by a jury in Judge Herbert Anderson's court this morning. In accordance with court instructions, Rawleigh himself was acquitted, Judge Anderson having ruled that he could not be responsible for the acts of the detective agency.

A similar suit brought by LeRoy Meyers, who also alleged he was falsely seized by the Burns men hunting Rawleigh's extortionist, is still pending. All three had asked for 75,000 damages.

The three were arrested several months ago near Freeport when they drove past a spot where a decoy package had been planted for the writer of extortion letters. They were afterwards exonerated, but they testified that Burns operatives administered a severe beating in trying to force them to confess. The real extortionist was afterwards caught and convicted.

To Ask New Trial
Attorney C. Wayland Brooks, who defended the Burns agency, moved for a new trial and a hearing on the motion was scheduled for July 14.

Witnesses for the detective agency testified during the trial that they did not mistreat the youths, and that they had ample grounds to suspect them.

Judge Anderson directed that Meyers' suit be tried separately because he is now serving a term at the state penal farm on another charge.

Grain from Idaho Arouses Envy Lee Co. Drouth Victims

Exhibited in the window at the Laing feed store are samples of grain from Idaho which arouse the envy of drought-stricken Lee county farmers; for the display shows a stalk of oats at least five and a half feet tall, rye and wheat about four feet tall, and timothy eleven inches high. All are heavily headed out. The grain is from the farm of Frank Scholl formerly of this community at Council, Ida., and was sent to his sister, Mrs. Rose Ziegler. In a letter accompanying the grain samples Mr. Scholl says he will have big grain yields and his fruit crop will be as large as any he has ever had.

GOT HOTTER TODAY

Springfield, Ill., June 28—(AP)—The hot wave became hotter today as new heat records for June were being set in downstate Illinois.

Thermometers soared past the 100-degree mark while cities and villages sweltered in the heat that added to the drought damage on the farms.

Springfield, one of the cities which simmered in 104 degree heat yesterday, was promised that the official thermometer would reach 105 this afternoon. It was 98 at 9 A. M. Continued fair and hot weather was forecast.

No Rain in State

No rain was reported in Illinois yesterday to follow up the recent showers that had checked the drought. The weather bureau announced that heavy and general rains must fall soon if farmers are to be spared further disaster. As the hot sun dominated another day, prospects were more gloomy.

At Havana, Peoria, and East St. Louis the weather bureau also reported that the official temperature was 104. This mark was exceeded by unofficial reports from several cities. At Ottawa it was 102. At Galva, Urbana, Hillsboro, New Burnside and Cairo it was 100 above. Elsewhere the thermometer was in the upper 90's except that Chicago reported a cool 78.

Gang Guns Barked Again in Capital of State in Night

Springfield, Ill., June 28—(AP)—Gangland guns, quiet for months about Springfield, have claimed another victim.

Mike Melone, 41, a tavern proprietor is dead, shot down with sawed-off shot guns by the occupants of an automobile as it passed his place of business about midnight.

The killers, apparently, were waiting for Melone, who was shot as he stood in the rear door of his establishment. Four shots were fired, felling Melone with a score of slugs in his body. The assassins, who fired as their automobile sped past the door, escaped.

Hornor Objects to Bull Fights: Sends Letter of Protest

Springfield, Ill., June 28—(AP)—To Governor Hornor bull fighting is not only illegal but "obnoxious to the true sportsmanship always manifest in our state."

The governor wrote to Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago about a rumor that an amusement park in Chicago is planning to hold bull fights. The letter, made public today, said bull fighting is prohibited by law and added:

"I feel sure when the matter is brought to your attention you will not tolerate such unsportsmanlike and cruel exhibitions."

HEAD OF LABOR UNION IS TAKEN FROM HARRIMAN

Hosiery Workers Officials Abducted from Tenn. City

Harriman, Tenn., June 28—(AP)—This labor-wracked town, whence Fred G. Held was abducted with a warning that he would be killed if he returned, has the union executive's promise to come back.

Held, vice president of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, was taken from a train in Harriman yesterday, driven into the country and released. Making his way to Chattanooga, he telephoned Emil Rieve of Philadelphia, president of the federation.

"I shall return to Harriman as soon as possible, not because I want to dare somebody, but merely to demonstrate that organizers of the American Federation of Labor will not be terrorized by lynch law methods."

Held was seized after a meeting of employees of the Harriman Hosiery Mills who had been thrown out of work when the plant closed down because of loss of its blue eagle. The NRA revoked the emblem during a strike of union members.

In Another Quarter

Washington, June 28—(AP)—The National Labor Board, charging violations of NRA's collective bargaining guarantee, announced today the case of the Bear Brand Hosiery Company of Beaver Dam, Wis., will be referred to the department of justice for appropriate action.

The board said the company had begun to move its machinery to its Kankakee, Ill., plant and the company's conduct "in the dispute suggests that the shut down of the plant and its subsequent dismantling were designed to mobilize public opinion against the striking employees, to coerce them to abandoning their organization and to intimidate employees in other plants from organizing."

"The record reveals an unswerving hostility on the part of the company to union activity," the board added.

Action against the company was brought by branch 66 of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers which charged Henry Pope, president, had discharged employees for their union activity and had refused to bargain collectively with representatives of the employees. The company closed its Beaver Dam plant March 20.

ST. CLAIR CO. "BAD MAN" SHOT BY POLICEMAN

Officer Who "Got" Roy Gann Was Wounded in Gun Battle

Stanton, Ill., June 28—(AP)—Roy Gann, a St. Clair county "bad man," lay critically wounded in a Carlinville hospital today after a gun battle in which Police Chief John Ryan of Assumption was also shot.

The shooting occurred at Assumption last night when Ryan came upon two men attempting to steal an automobile. Ryan, shot in the head, is in a Pana hospital.

Gann was arrested here shortly before midnight last night when he staggered into a tavern wounded and asked aid.

Night Policeman John Baumeister, called to the tavern, said Gann confessed he shot Ryan, and named his companion who got away after the shooting. The two left Assumption in a car stolen after the wounding of the police chief.

Admits Others Crimes
Baumeister said Gann also confessed wounding Sheriff Peter Fitzgerald and Deputy Joe Kellermann of Madison county last February at Summerfield when they attempted to question him, and two robberies at Bethalto, Ill.

Gann, the policeman said, involved his brother Howard Gann in the Bethalto robberies. The brother, 18 years old, was recently sentenced to a term in Illinois state penitentiary for a restaurant holdup at Edwardsville.

Roy Gann was taken to Carlinville at midnight. Realizing his grave condition he asked Policeman Baumeister to tell the younger brother "to be a good boy for I'm about gone and won't be able to tell him."

Police said Roy Gann was sought for a Missouri bank robbery as well as for questioning in several other cases.

SETTLE STEEL STRIKE

City Of Dixon Allotted $40,000 Of PWA Funds For Work On Galena Ave.

Washington, June 28—(AP)—The Public Works Administration today allotted $33,313,680 for construction of 228 projects in 28 states, Hawaii and Alaska.

An allocation of $33,006,883 for projects in 30 states and Hawaii and Alaska was announced late yesterday.

Officials estimated the projects announced today would provide the equivalent of a month's work for 197,681 men on construction sites and twice that amount of employment indirectly in industries producing and transporting materials.

The applicants, the PWA said, have promised that they will start work promptly.

Illinois allotments included: Dixon, street repair, loan and grant, $40,000.

Steward, school building $5,000.

Doubts Sewer Allotment

Reports from Washington, D. C. received here this morning indicated the allotment of federal funds from the Public Works Administration for certain Lee county projects, foremost of which may be the construction of a sewage disposal system in Dixon. Mayor G. C. Dixon spent yesterday in Chicago investigating the progress on three Dixon projects under the PWA program, namely, the sewage disposal system, the repaving of Galena avenue in the business section and the installation of a modern street lighting system in the down town district. At the time of his departure from the public works administration offices in Chicago at a late hour yesterday afternoon, no confirmation of the allotments had been received there.

The sewage disposal project, most important of the local PWA works, would entail an expenditure of $285,000. It was estimated that the government would grant a sum of approximately $70,000 toward this project, the balance of about $215,000 to be paid by the city within a period of 30 years, the bonds bearing an interest rate of four per cent.

Other Lee county projects which had been filed under the PWA plan provided for the building of a high school gymnasium at Steward and a library and gymnasium in Ashton.

Discussing the reported allocation of federal funds for the Dixon projects, Mayor Dixon today said: "Upon my visit at the administration offices yesterday afternoon the allocations had not been allowed, according to information I received. I sincerely trust that the reports of the grant are true, but doubt that the allocation for the sewage disposal system has been granted."

Commenting further, Mayor Dixon stated that bonding houses, who had been depended upon to purchase the sewage disposal system bonds from the city of Dixon, had refused to make such a purchase because of the fact that the city water system is privately owned. At a recent meeting, attended by attorneys for the Dixon Water Company and stockholders, the fact was made known that the bonding company would not purchase the sewage disposal bonds unless the water company was municipally owned.

For Referendum
It was stated that at this meeting the new state law which gives to municipalities the right to purchase water companies without a referendum vote, was made known. The new law is effective July 1 and pertains to commission forms of city government. Mayor Dixon stated today that he and members of the city council present opposed taking advantage of the new law to acquire the water company and favored the citizens exercising the same rights as under the previous law. The mayor was supported in his action by the members of the council who were present at this meeting.

Mayor Dixon stated this morning that he would oppose any ordinance which would take advantage of the new law and deprive the citizens of the same rights as exercised under the present law. He announced, however, that the Water Company officials were continuing their negotiations with the bonding company.

Associated Press advices from Washington received here later today brought the information that

RETURN THIRTY SEVEN MILLION ASKED IN SUIT

Receiver for Insull Concern Has Filed Record Action

Chicago, June 28—(AP)—Charging that Samuel Insull and other directors juggled millions of the company's funds, stockholders of one of Insull's concerns sued today to force the officials to pay back $37,308,646.

The suit, brought by Sam Howard, trustee in bankruptcy, throws open the affairs of Corporation Securities Co., an Insull-organized investment trust.

The security owners painted a picture of frantic financial scrambles, on the part of the company's directors to keep up appearances during the collapse of 1929.

They charged that hundreds of millions of dollars were tossed into the stock market in 1928-29, in a vain effort to bolster the tottering Insull utilities empire; that other values for Insull stocks and sure buyers into the market, and that "insiders" were allowed to get out from under their liabilities when the company's fall seemed certain.

The suit is one of the largest recovery actions ever filed in Cook county's courts. As an opening signal in the fight, the trustee in bankruptcy filed a claim of that amount 11 months ago against the $5,000,000 estate of the late Edward F. Swift, packer.

He had been a director of the $150,000,000 investment trust.

BROTHERS TAKE OFF ON AMERICA- POLAND FLIGHT

Two Polish-Americans Set Sail Today for Their Home-land

Hermitage, Nfld., June 28—(AP)—The red, white and blue colored monoplane, carrying the Adamowicz brothers on a transatlantic flight to Warsaw, passed over this village on the southern shores of Fortune Bay at 1:07 P. M. CST. today. The plane was headed directly for Harbor Grace where the fliers plan to stop off before hopping off for the ocean jump.

BULLETIN

Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 28—(AP)—An airplane believed to be the Warsaw of Joseph and Benjamin Adamowicz, bound from Brooklyn on a transatlantic flight, passed over East Point, P. E. I. at 1 A. M. C. S. T. today.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 28—(AP)—The Adamowicz brothers, Benjamin and Joseph, silent partners in business and in flying, took off at 4:40 CST. today on a flight to Warsaw, Poland, their ancestral home.

Promised fine flying weather for the next 48 hours, they headed for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland; there to refuel and turn out across the Atlantic to their native land.

They were accompanied in their red, white and blue monoplane "Warsaw" by Holger Holris, who flew to Copenhagen in 1931 in the same plane—then "Miss Liberty." Holris was to leave the brothers at Harbor Grace.

Holris said the brothers would set forth from Harbor Grace "just as soon as they get tanked up."

First "Brother Act"
As noncommittal as ever, the chunky Polish-American pilots—perhaps the most experienced and the first "brother act" in trans-Atlantic flying—were confident of reaching their goal.

It was a come-back. They started out from Floyd Bennett field once before—a "test flight" they called it—but their ship cracked up while landing last August at Harbor Grace.

This time they had another year's training and the experience of Holris to aid them on the first leg of their journey.

Benjamin, 36 years old and married, and Joseph, 39 and single, have been flying only since 1927. They went for their first flight that year with a friend, and when they had landed, Benjamin said: "If he can do that, I can do it, too." On October 16 of that same year, he won his amateur pilot's license. Joseph was licensed soon afterward.

The brothers are residents of Brooklyn and partners in a mineral water business.

MAN HELD FOR HARBORING HIM TELLS OF DEATH

Reilly Says Tom Carroll, Killed June 7, was His Informant

St. Paul, June 28—(AP)—John Dillinger, long hunted outlaw, is dead, Albert "Pat" Reilly, held on charges of harboring the fugitive here this spring told federal investigators today.

Reilly told questioners that Tom Carroll, during a conversation in Minneapolis with the former baseball club mascot, before Carroll was slain at Waterloo, Iowa, June 7, had confided to him the desperado was dead.

Constant Jealously
The statement regarding Dillinger's death came during the relentless questioning of Reilly which began immediately after his capture in a Minneapolis apartment and continued unabated today. The quizzing was directed by the department of justice men in the U. S. Paul postoffice building.

While Reilly was making this revelation, Chicago authorities heard Dillinger attended a ball game between the Chicago Cubs and the Brooklyn Dodgers in the Illinois city two days ago.

Pressed for information about the whereabouts of the elusive outlaw, Reilly is reported to have said: "Tommy told me that John is dead."

Saw Him Last April 22
Reilly told questioners that Tom his interrogators the last time he saw Dillinger was at Little Bohemia, near Mercer, Wis., shortly the gang and federal men there on April 22.

The next day, April 23, three of the fleeing Dillinger gangsters engaged in a gunfight with Dakota county deputy sheriffs, near here, later abandoning a blood-soaked car and commandeering another machine. The second machine was found abandoned in Chicago two weeks later. It also contained blood stains and first aid equipment.

One theory is that Dillinger was mortally wounded in that engagement. There has been no positive proof he has been seen after that, although his sister reported the desperado had sent a postcard to his Indiana home stating he was well.

SEEN AT BALL GAME?

Chicago, June 28—(AP)—It's John Dillinger, baseball fan, now, if the eyes and ears of a Crown Point Ind. mail carrier haven't been playing him tricks.

Dillinger, the nation's foremost and most elusive desperado, sat through seven innings of the Chicago Cubs-Brooklyn Dodgers game at Wrigley Field last Tuesday, Robert Volk, who drives a rural route out of Crown Point told Indiana authorities today.

Volk said he was certain of his identification, and having had personal contact with the gang chieftain before, felt he was in a position to know. Volk was in the garage from which Dillinger stole the car in which he made good his "wooden gun" escape from the Crown Point jail, and was a witness to that episode.

BRAINS AND THEIR APPLICATION.

Undertaking to remove the curse from the brain trust, President Roosevelt, speaking at Yale as compensation for a doctor's degree, said he proposed to continue to use brains in conduct of the government.

In this connection something may be said of the so-called brain trust, its origin, and its evolution.

During the campaign of 1932 Governor Roosevelt, as a candidate, gathered about him a group of men who could assemble information and make economic "plans." One man suggested another, and that was the way the group was formulated.

It was reported, probably correctly, that the term "brain trust" was first applied to them by the candidate himself. It was used first in complimentary vein, but later the trust was made the scape-goat by the public.

We accept the explanation of the members of the trust themselves that as an entity with an end in view, it came to an end with the inauguration of Roosevelt. Thereafter they did not meet or promote any program as a group. They then were individuals, each going his own way.

That, we are inclined to believe is a fair statement of what happened.

As the personnel of the administration was formulated, however, place was given to a school with socialistic tendencies, which was taken its lessons from communistic and fascist, dictatorship of Europe and had ambitions to remake America according to its own pattern, which is a pattern different from that to which we were accustomed. In this school were Tugwell and the young lawyers of the Felix Frankfurter following.

The President recognized one group in dealing with the money question, another in farm planning, another in legislation to control the flow of capital and to put all the banks in government harness, another in industrial recovery, the NRA. The professors who advised the President on the money question were theorists, but are not understood to be of the socialistic element. The socialistic element probably would not have stopped the currency experiment where it was stopped. And so on, the differences in ideas occur.

The brain trust, as it first was referred to by Roosevelt, having dissolved with the inauguration, the one now in the public mind is a creature, in large measure, of Washington writers, a creature made use of by newspapers.

This brain trust is a scape-goat for all the errors of the President.

It may be noted that a rule newspapers of the country credit President Roosevelt with the things that turn out well and blame on the brain trust the things that turn out otherwise. The practice is general, but without agreement. Undoubtedly the same thought dominates a majority. That is that whatever recovery we are to accomplish must be during the incumbency of President Roosevelt. He will be in the white house at least two more years. People generally repose faith in him. If they are without great faith, they at least rest their hopes upon him. This faith and hope approaches fanaticism on the part of some. What would be the result if they should lose this faith and hope, without having any other leader?

Newspapers that otherwise would feel free to criticize the President as his followers criticized President Hoover really do not want to alienate the people in these circumstances. They do hope that the President ultimately will conclude that the United States will be safer in the hands of such men as Senator Glass, Senator Robinson, Vice President Garner, Senator Harrison, and other democrats than in the hands of the young radicals who are drawing their lessons from new and untried governments of Europe.

In this situation the brain trust serves as a scapegoat. Upon it may be laid the blame for all failures.

Of course the country, under any and all administrations, will use the best brains it can summon, as it always has. The question arises as to application of them. The question arises as to whether the young liberals brought out of universities would not be found better at research, a job at which professors always have been found useful, than at administration of the affairs of the United States, in which Garner has spent a third of a century, in which Glass, Robinson, and Harrison trail not far behind.

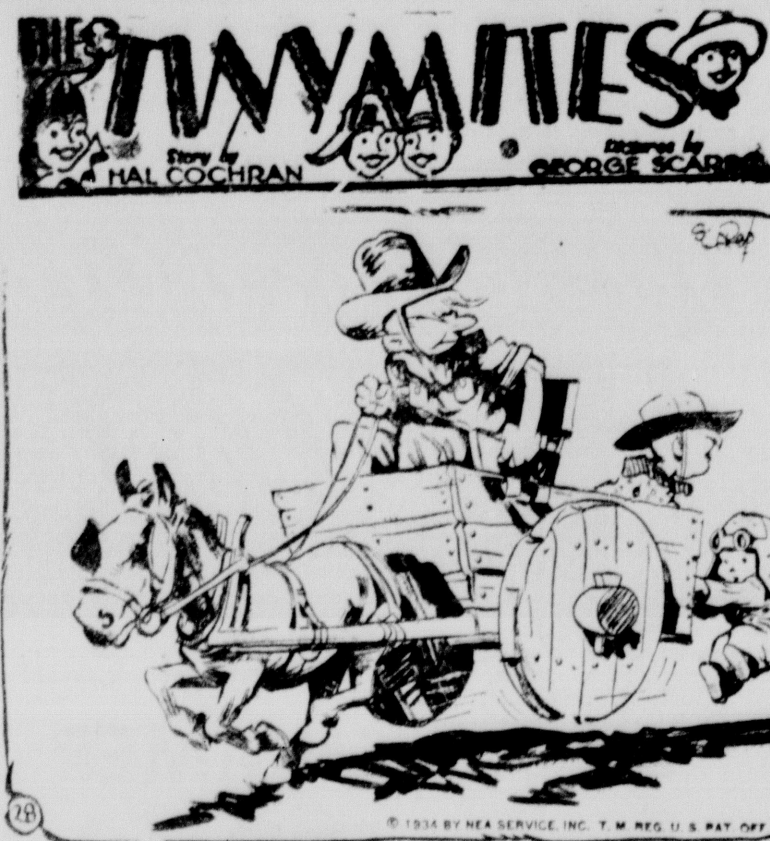

It is not necessary to depose all the leading democrats in order to get brains into the government.

I know of nothing that makes people more suspicious of those engaged in the practice of medicine than the expert witness.—Dr. Dean Lewis, former president, American Medical Association.

I believe that some day the German state will be crowned with a state head that will be removed once for all from the political arena.—Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen of Germany.

Strong governments drive men into artificial lip service to their slogans.—President Glenn Frank of Wisconsin University.

There are enough known facts, if properly and extensively applied, to solve the cancer problem.—Dr. William C. McCarty of the Mayo Clinic.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

"I think this crooked house is grand, though it is like topsy-turvy land," said wee Goldy to the fine crooked man. "Who built a place like this?"

"It's just as different as can be, and that's why it appeals to me. I guess the builder must have let the whole job go amiss."

The crooked man laughed right out loud. "Why, of this place I am very proud," said he. "I built it all myself and I am satisfied."

"You never will find another like this place, no matter where you all hike. No one has ever had the luck that I have, though they've tried."

Then Scouty said, "Well, we must go. Of course we all want you to know that we'd stay longer, but it's time to find some food you see!"

"Ah, ha! You are hungry," said the man. "Well, if you will wait I think I can find plenty for each one of you if you will eat with me."

"Oh, will we?" wee Duncy cried.

"You bet!" The man then started out to get the food that he had promised. Soon he brought some crullers in.

"Say," Goldy cried. "I know you have crullers. Because they're crooked, too." "You are right!" replied their friend, "but they are good eating. Let's begin."

When they had finished with their meal, wee Coppy sighed and said, "I feel that I'd best get some exercise. What say we all depart?"

And so the whole bunch rushed outside, and very shortly Windy cried, "Hey! Look what's coming down the road. A funny looking cart."

The man who drove the cart yelled, "Hey, if you tots want to go my way, hop on behind. I am pretty sure that you'll be glad you came."

"Right toward a great big field I am bound where I'll pick peppers off the ground. I guess you know, by now, that Peter Piper is my name!"

Tigers

There are two large American cats—the puma, Felis concolor, inhabiting North America from the United States southward, which is fawn colored, unstriped and spotted, and the jaguar, Felis onca, larger than the puma, which inhabits America from Central America southward to the southern limit of tropical South America, and which is a tawny yellow color marked by black spots similar to those of the leopard of the Old world.

Varieties of Cactus

They may grow singly or in patches. A few varieties grow as far north as Massachusetts and Minnesota; others are found in Utah, Colorado, Florida, etc. Several have become popular house plants.

Growth of Baby Crabs

A baby crab is less like an adult crab in structure than a tadpole is like a frog when it is born, and it does not achieve the familiar crab pattern until it is about a month old. From that time on for a period of six months or more it grows so rapidly that it has to discard its outgrown shell about twice a month. At the end of that time it will have become a fair sized crab.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C.M. Co.

CUBS' WINNING STREAK REACHED SEVEN STRAIGHT

Makes Giants' Place at Top of the Heap Bit Uncomfortable

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago Cubs' latest winning streak had tied today the season's record of seven consecutive victories and made the National League pennant race a little more uncomfortable for the pace setting New York Giants.

Charley Grimm's men opened the season with seven straight triumphs and that record has been equaled only by the Cards and Braves. The Cubs opened their current drive June 21 in the second game of the series with the Giants and since then have beaten the world champions three times and the Dodgers in four games, limiting the metropolitan teams to the low total of 10 runs.

Shave Giants' Lead
With Guy Bush showing a return to his early season form, the Cubs turned back the Dodgers 5 to 1 yesterday to shave the Giants lead to one and one-half games with the help of the St. Louis Cardinals, who defeated the champions 8 to 7 and advanced within two games of the leaders.

The Cardinals gained an even split in the four-game series with the Giants and Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean credit for his 12th pitching victory of the year. The game was decided in the ninth when young Bill DeLancey hit a home run. The triumph was Dizzy's second of the day as earlier he received notice he had been credited with winning Saturday's game over the Dodgers, a victory originally awarded Bill Hallahan.

Pirates, Braves Gain
The Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves also gained, the former advancing to within 5 1/2 games of the leaders and the latter within six games. The Pirates, with Larry French looking more like the French of 1933, made it four out of five from the Phillies with a 4 to 1 triumph. The Braves licked the Cincinnati Reds 8 to 14 as Wally Berger hit his 11th home run.

In the American League the New York Yankees gained a half-game on the idle Detroit Tigers as they won their fifth straight victory on the strength of Ben Chapman's eleventh inning homer and some fine relief pitching by "Fordham" Johnny Murphy. The score was 8 to 7 with the Chicago White Sox the losers.

The Boston Red Sox, with Henry Johnson, pitching, scored their first shutout of the season in beating the Cleveland Indians 6 to 0.

The Tigers-Athletics and Browns-Senators games were rained out.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—A brilliant exhibition of pitching was turned in during an International League game between Albany and Jersey City. Fred Fussell, Albany south-paw, pitched a no-hitter against the Jersey team, winning 4-0.

Five Years Ago Today—Sarazen and El Espinoza led the National Open Field at the end of the second round, turning in cards of 142.

Ten Years Ago Today—The Athletics obtained Outfielder William Lamar from Toledo, in the American Association, by giving up Pitcher Rollie Naylor, Outfielder Paul Strand, and cash.

In case of death by auto accident your estate will receive $10,000, if you have one of the Dixon Evening Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policies that costs you but $1.40 a year to carry.

Tilden Thinks He's Best

Baron Gottfried von Cramm, 24-year-old leader of the German Davis Cup squad, is the coming world amateur tennis champion, according to Bill Tilden. The up-and-coming German youngster is shown above in action as he defeated Andre Merlin, of France, in European zone play recently.

HARRY COOPER WINNER STATE PRO GOLF MEET

Oliver Rogers, of Dixon, Qualifies in State Amateur Tourney

Springfield, Ill., June 28—(AP)—Harry Cooper of Chicago was back on his state pro throne today as Don Armstrong of Aurora opened the battle to retain his Illinois amateur title against a field of rivals.

Making one of his last finishes, which almost won the national open and did capture the western Cooper met and defeated Tommy Armour of Chicago for the title by one shot, 71 to 72, yesterday. It was the second successive time that Cooper triumphed over the Black Scot for the state professional championship, having defeated him by six strokes last year at the Medinah Country Club, Chicago.

Armstrong headed the upper bracket and tangled with Hank Foley, one of Chicago's star public links stars, while Cliff McKelvie of Decatur, who captured the medal with 110 shots against a faltering field, topped the lower bracket with Hank Bowber, another Chicagoan, as his first round opponent.

More Downstaters
The downstate delegation out numbered Chicago's 22 to 10 as the opening match play round of 18 holes opened. Two 18-hole rounds will be played daily with the 36-hole finale on Saturday.

So intense was the heat yesterday that a score of 120-13 shots over par was good enough to land in among the qualifiers without a play-off. Eight, including Oliver Rogers of Dixon, tied at 121 for the extra place with Steve Williams, Jr., of Chicago, emerging victorious with a birdie three on the first hole. Not a single favorite in the starting field of 70 was upset.

Among the outstanding contenders for the crown now held by Armstrong, were Keith Johnson, Bloomington; Larry Moller, Allen Oakley and Chink Weems, who comprised a strong trio from Quincy; Warren Dawson, championship winner in 1931, and 32 from Chicago; and Yontz Bonell, Bloomington; Hunter Hicks, Chicago; McKelvie and Bowber.

Kenneth Detweiler and Oliver D. Rogers of Dixon were in the play yesterday with scores of 131 and 121 respectively.

MODERN SPHINX TO CONCEAL ROSICRUCIAN SECRETS

Paralleling the legends of the Great Sphinx of Ghizeh, Egypt, officers of the Rosicrucian Order, A. M. O. R. C., will deposit in the breast of a modern sphinx a parchment scroll, hermetically sealed in a lead tube. The scroll will contain a summary of 15 principles thought by the membership to be the most fundamental of the Order's philosophy and teachings and which should be preserved for posterity. A vote is being cast by Rosicrucians throughout the world to determine what principles are most worthy to be preserved in this manner. The sphinx, one of a pair, each weighing a ton, is mounted on an emerald in front of the Science building at A Century of Progress and is being completed by the Order.

The ceremony of depositing the important document will be held July 12, during the annual Rosicrucian convention. The Great Sphinx of Ghizeh, Egypt is over 171 feet in length and 66 feet in height, the sand being first completely uncovered from it by Cavellia in 1816, revealing a breast plate inscribed by Thothmes IV, the translation of which leads archeologists to believe that somewhere in its masonry was deposited a tablet intended for posterity, containing the secret purpose of the builders of the Great Pyramid. The Rosicrucian Order, A. M. O. R. C., a non-sectarian fraternity, having its traditional origin in Egypt, is therefore repeating this legendary act in a modern manner.

Living Our Everyday Lives

TOUGH OR TENDER

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

No, it is not meat that I am talking about, but human minds. Minds are of two sorts, William A. James told us, hard and soft, tough and tender. He even used the word healthy and sick, but that is hardly fair, unless we mean a kind of Divine homesickness.

Some of Martha and some of Mary, as Kipling puts it; materialists and mystics, men of action and men of ideas. Anyway, it is a valid distinction and accounts for much.

Put any vital issue to a group of friends and you will see the cleavage between two types of mind. Some will be quick, eager, responsive, forward-looking; others cautious, questioning, slow. Some will see all the advantages, others all the obstacles in the way.

They cannot help it; they are made that way. Both types of mind are needed like our two feet in walking, or the two wings of a bird. A tough mind must not think a tender mind foolish, nor must a tender mind think the tough mind pig-headed and blind as a bat. Each has something to teach the other if either has sense enough to learn it.

It is tender-minded men who make our mystics, poets, seers, artists and prophets. They see vividly, feel deeply, suffer intensely, rejoice greatly. But if they light the way with their vision, it is the tough-minded men who bear the burden and break the road toward the goal.

Of course, in supremely great men the two types are blended, as they are in all of us in some degree. They are masters of the dream and of the deed, makers of new epochs—men who see the way and lead us in it. But such men are rare and their names in history are few.

The rest of us must be tolerant, tactful, teachable, each helping the other. In religion, in politics, in life we see things differently, and both are right. We must try to see other points of view, and not imagine that we have a corner on truth. Besides, we must not fail of that charity without which even truth may be a terrible thing!

GOVERNMENT TO BUY 10,000,000 HEAD LIVESTOCK

Hope to Aid the Drought
Stricken Owners by
New Program

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Copyright, 1934,
By The Associated Press

Washington, June 28—(AP)—The farm administration has decided to increase the purchase of livestock in the drought areas to 10,000,000 head.

Expansion of the buying program, designed to aid farmers hit by this spring's long dry spell and to rid the country of undesirable stock, will be announced within a few days. Purchase of only 2,000,000 head was contemplated originally.

Personal inspection of the parched grazing land west of the Mississippi led officials to increase the number. The 10,000,000 will include about 5,000,000 sheep. The price has not been set, officials said, but probably will be about $2 a head for animals a year or more old.

May Better Herds
"If a year from today we can have weeded out the poorer and diseased animals from our herds the nation's livestock industry will be on better basis than at any time in the past," one prominent official said.

"This purchase program is primarily one of relieving farmers of the burden of carrying excess animals and of giving them cash payment, but its permanent effects are of vast significance to the industry."

Directors hope the bulk of the 10,000,000 can be bought before winter, pointing out that forage and feed are inadequate to last through the cold months.

Grass and legumes are considered so badly damaged that they cannot recover over a vast section of the drought area. Officials predicted that effects of the drought on hay and forage crops will be felt for two years.

Daily Health Talk

TAKE CARE OF YOUR HEART

An old fashioned school master once said that if a boy was aware that he had either a body or a soul, there was something the matter with him.

Almost as much may be said about being aware of one's heart. In health one should not be aware of it, nor should one need consciously to take care of it. However, all neat phrases need to be taken with a grain of salt, and so here, too, one can pay some attention to one's heart without becoming a hypochondriac.

Care of the heart consists mainly in good personal hygiene including exercise, preferably in the open air, adequate rest, proper nutrition and the avoidance of infections.

The term infection, is very inclusive. In connection with heart disease, it may mean specific as well as non-specific conditions. By specific infections we mean rheumatic fever and syphilis. By the non-specific we mean all the constitutional infections which have a debilitating effect upon the heart.

The avoidance of common infections such as colds, influenza, bronchitis and those affecting the tonsils, head sinuses and the teeth, contributed to the care of the heart.

Two items of importance are tobacco and alcohol. Much has been preached and written about both. It is not at this time possible to issue final judgment on the injuriousness of either of these narcotic substances. But it has been fairly well established that both tobacco and alcohol can harm those persons who are particularly susceptible.

The individual who drinks and smokes what he considers "in moderation" but who suffers mild pains in the regions of the heart particularly following relatively slight physical exertion, who finds himself grown short of breath, and who grows tired readily, is best advised to look into his use of tobacco and alcohol.

Tomorrow—Heart Disease.

SPARKS FLY AS DARROW AGAIN STRIKES AT NRA

Gen. Johnson Says Criticism of Relief Body is False Material

Washington, June 28—(AP)—Friction between the NRA and the Darrow review board stirred up more sparks today as Hugh S. Johnson accused the board of issuing "false material," and the Darrow group promptly drafted a counter-attack.

Johnson, in a biting criticism of the second Darrow report, attached replies by Donald R. Richberg, NRA's general counsel, and twelve administrators.

"The report," Johnson said, "is even more inaccurate and inconsequential than the first."

Charles E. Russell, assistant to Clarence Darrow, told newsmen the board "likely will issue a statement in reply shortly."

Johnson's Answer
The NRA administrator said certain of the board's statements were typical of the "unfairness, untruth, temper, spirit, and utter worthlessness of these reports;" that it had not produced "so much as one little drachm of evidence that there is any monopoly or oppression at all;" and that:

"The evidence thus multiplies that the board is using its high office—not to perform its function of showing us our errors, giving us the truth or in any way protecting any little fellow—but solely to manufacture false material for any politician who may be demagogue enough to use this kind of political coin as honest money."

The Darrow board, except for time spent in considering a direct reply, went right ahead on its third report. Russell said it was "very nearly complete" and probably will be presented to President Roosevelt within two days.

ANNIVERSARY OF MONUMENTAL MURDER IS MARKED

Killing Which Started the World War Twenty Years Ago Today

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is the anniversary of monumental murder.

Twenty years ago Gavril Princip shot Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to Austria's throne, at Sarajevo, Bosnia.

The blood that streamed that day from the archduke's throat spread a red flood over the earth. Stopped Nov. 11, 1918, it had claimed twenty-five million men—dead, wounded, maimed, broken.

War rode the bullet from Gavril Princip's gun.

Today in Vienna bombs were hurled, damaging government railroads and power plants. It was as though the crack of Princip's pistol twenty years ago hadn't been loud enough to carry down through the years; as though new violence were somehow needed to refresh memories quickly dead.

Gavril Princip was 19 years old and had a grievance.

Results of Shot
With the touch of his finger to the trigger of his weapon Gavril Princip:

Swept the German throne away; Beckoned the czar of Russia and his family before a blood-lustful firing squad; Remapped Europe; and Dug five million—and more—graves.

An Austrian court, which could not see into the future, decided that fit punishment for Princip would be life imprisonment—sent him to a cell—him who sent the world to catastrophe. There he died.

Hardly anyone remembers Princip today. The match is forgotten when the house burns down.

City Much the Same
Twenty years after, Sarajevo is much the same, except that it is larger by about ten thousand population, and prospers in a way from travelers who would see what kind of a place it is that could send millions of men against each other in combat to the death.

Twenty years after, the United States—thousands of miles from Sarajevo and seemingly unconcerned about Gavril Princip and his pistol—received a note from England declining to accept an American suggestion that England do something about paying her war debt.

Twenty years after, the United States, France, Italy, Japan and England plan bigger navies; the world disarmament conference is in suspension; France charges Germany is secretly rearming; troops drill.

In Germany today, twenty years after, flags fly at half mast, for it is the anniversary, too, of the Versailles treaty signing; and—as Germany sees it—Sarajevo and Versailles each mark bitter unforgettable, unforgivable defeat.

President Goes
on Air at 8:30
Washington, June 28—(AP)—President Roosevelt will make one of his periodic "reports to the nation" over the radio at 8:30 o'clock, CST, tonight.

It is expected to deal with events of the last six months and prospects for the future.

The President still hopes to get away Saturday to start his Hawaiian cruise, but if there is too much work he will delay until Monday.

MISS DRESSLER IS CRITICALLY SICK ON COAST

Famous Actress' Doctor Says Outcome is "Dubious"

Santa Barbara, Calif., June 28—(AP)—Marie Dressler's prolonged illness had reached a critical stage today and a nurse was in constant attendance on the 60-year-old actress.

The outcome is dubious," said Dr. F. R. Nuzum, but he promptly qualified his statement by adding: "It is not anticipated that she will pass on immediately."

The actress, who came to an estate here for a rest a few weeks ago, if suffering from complications including ailments afflicting the kidneys and heart.

Some months ago she spent several weeks here in an effort to regain her health, which has been poor for two years. Later she was able to return to her screen work in Hollywood, apparently much improved. About 10 days ago she suffered a relapse.

Close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Walker, who visited the actress yesterday said she spent a comfortable day and appeared to be somewhat improved.

At her Hollywood studio it was disclosed Miss Dressler in her latest pictures has been able to work but a few hours daily.

CALIFORNIA IS FOCAL POINT FOR COMMUNIST MOVE

Leaders Plan to Begin World-Wide Revolt Along Coast

San Francisco, June 28—(AP)—Official reports disclosed today that California has been selected as a focal point in the communist world-wide revolutionary movement.

The reports followed Acting Governor Frank P. Merriam's recent declaration that the state has adequate laws to deal effectively with both violence and incitement.

Recent strikes in the rich Imperial and San Joaquin agricultural sections were declared by Albert Hogarty, Sacramento Communist organizer, to be part of a widespread revolutionary program aimed at overthrow of established governments.

While efforts are being carried on to combat the spread of Communism during the coming harvest season, the Communists are conducting schools in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento, teaching hundreds of followers the principles of their beliefs.

Disregard Green
"The workers no longer believe in the advice handed out by William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, that they should not strike at a crisis because public sentiment would be against them," Hogarty declared in an interview at Sacramento.

The longshoremen's strike proved that a crisis is the psychological time to press the issue. That illustrates the reason we follow California crops."

Hogarty denied, however, that members of his organization plan to destroy crops.

The Communist party does not sanction violence or destruction of property," he said. "We have exposed and expelled from our ranks, and will continue to do so, such members as are guilty of sabotage. We believe in the right of free assembly and free speech, however, and will defend ourselves by force if necessary to gain these privileges."

CONVICTED GOV.
OF NO. DAKOTA
SEEMS WINNER

Early Returns of Primary Election Have Langer Leading

Fargo N. D., June 28—(AP)—The campaign of "vindication" of William Langer, North Dakota's convicted governor, bore fruit today when returns from Wednesday's primary showed his apparent renomination.

Facing probable court actions challenging his right to hold office to have his name placed on the ballot in the November general election, the state's chief executive had what appeared to be a decisive lead over T. H. Thoresen, candidate of the anti-Langer faction of the Non-Partisan League and State Senator James P. Cain, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Returns from 137 precincts gave Langer 7,434; Thoresen, 5,382; Cain 5,312.

In Court Friday
Langer must appear before Judge Andrew Miller in federal court Friday for sentence on his conviction for misusing federal relief funds. The maximum penalty is two years imprisonment, a fine of $10,000 or both.

United States Senator Lynn J. Frazier, candidate for the Republican renomination with the endorsement of both the Langer and anti-Langer factions of the league, held an overwhelming lead over his two opponents, C. S. Buck and Nelson Mason.

Governor Langer and four others were convicted more than a week ago of charges of conspiracy to block federal relief legislation by soliciting funds from workers paid with federal relief funds for the support of "The Leader," Langer administration weekly.

Howard is attracted by Jane's beauty, but she keeps her schemes to keep them apart. Then one evening Howard calls on Amy and almost immediately they fall in love.

Later that night Jane confronts Howard and accuses him of breaking her heart. When he tries to calm her she interprets his words as a declaration of love and announces their engagement.

A day later Howard is trying to explain to Amy what happened when Jane sees them together. She flies into a rage. Howard tells Jane he does not and never did want to marry her and that it is Amy he loves. Jane leaves. Amy admits her love for Howard and agrees to marry him.

Jane decides to go to New York. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

MISS ROSA went with Jane to the late afternoon train and waited with her in the big empty station. "I know I ought to go along with you," she said at last, "just for a few days to get you settled."

"If you went with me I'd get off at the next station and go somewhere else. I don't want you or anyone else."

Jane went on with cruel intention. "You'll be as glad to get rid of me as I am to go. We've never been very fond of each other, have we, Aunt Rosa? You don't care about anything but playing bridge and having nice fattening meals and making the house look a little better-kept than anybody else's. I suppose you're too old to know how young people feel, really."

"Maybe I am," said Miss Rosa wearily. "Anyway, Jane, I did the best I could with my limitations. I'm very fond of you, even if you don't believe it, and it fairly tears me to see you like this."

"Will you stop nagging me?" "Your train's coming in." She hugged Jane's stiff, resistant shoulders and kissed her on both cheeks.

But Jane had pulled away from the embrace and was hurrying out to the train. The porter swung up her bag. Her trunk was slammed into the baggage car three coaches ahead. Miss Rosa watched, more unhappy and perturbed than she had ever been in her whole life.

All the way back to the house Miss Rosa was miserable with defeat. "I shouldn't have let her go," she thought.

Jane, by now some 50 miles away, was for the moment unaware of her advantage. The energy that had started her on this determined flight had gone.

NEVER afterward in her life was she able to recall any detail of that journey, how she reached the hotel nor how she spent the first few days of her stay, for she was suspended in pain and unreality. The truth was that she stayed in her room most of the time, lying in bed or sitting by the window, while the management, only partly reassured by messages from Miss Rosa, kept an uneasy watch on her, sending in maids on unnecessary errands, while the housekeeper lingered nervously in the hall for their reports. Jane did not know it, but she did know that after a while she began to come alive and to feel that she must do something.

Accordingly she went out for a walk, looking into shop windows at first blankly, then with a faint interest quickened by the sight of clothes and trinkets superior to anything Marburg could offer.

Presently she came to the park. Various other strollers, mostly men, glanced at her with speculative admiration.

Presently she came to the park and strolled in a little way to rest in its greenness. The important feeling subsided, leaving a flatness in its place and great loneliness.

Various other strollers, mostly elderly men, glanced at her with speculative admiration, all of them only too ready and willing to start conversation. Jane saw that and it pleased her.

She must vindicate herself. She must do something quickly to show her superiority to Amy and all the meager, stupid life of Marburg, and to make Howard Jackson realize what he had lost. A vague, brilliant vision of herself returning to dazzle and to condescend rose in her mind, but she could not evolve any definite guide toward its realization. There must be something she could study with immediate results and she would find out at once.

BUT the registrar's office of the Columbia summer school was baffled by Jane and bewildered by her.

One of the secretaries, more observant than the others, had seen the tight nervous, the despairing eagerness behind Jane's apparent aimlessness and took her aside. "Look here," she said kindly, "why do you bother with this sort of thing? It's mostly for teachers, you know. You seem to me, I don't know exactly why, but you do seem to me to be looking for something quite practical, outside the field of education. Why don't you take a course in one of these high-grade secretarial schools and get into some business—publishing or advertising, maybe? My sister went to one and she's done awfully well, got a position as secretary to the editor of a big magazine and worked herself onto the staff. I'll give you a couple of addresses."

It was the first line of direction Jane had found and she probably would not have followed it but one of the schools was near her hotel. She passed it as she went back there and after a moment's hesitation returned and entered. It was a competent place with more than a suggestion of swagger. At once Jane felt herself at ease. She was understood.

That night she wrote two letters. One was to her aunt, an answer to the letters and telegrams which poor Miss Rosa had been heaping on her ever since her arrival and which Jane, so far, had not noticed.

She must vindicate herself. She must do something quickly to show her superiority to Amy and all the meager, stupid life of Marburg, and to make Howard Jackson realize what he had lost. A vague, brilliant vision of herself returning to dazzle and to condescend rose in her mind, but she could not evolve any definite guide toward its realization. There must be something she could study with immediate results and she would find out at once.

You seem to me, I don't know exactly why, but you do seem to me to be looking for something quite practical, outside the field of education. Why don't you take a course in one of these high-grade secretarial schools and

"My dear Amy: I've been surprised not to hear from you since I left. It seemed to me that the least you owed me was an explanation if you didn't feel quite up to an apology."

"I want to tell you again that in spite of everything he may say, Howard Jackson literally pursued me with his attentions and made love to me ardently. Also he certainly did ask me to marry him. I cared for him deeply. I believed in his honor and sincerity and I know him so well that I still believe in them and am still absolutely certain that he cares for me and you have deliberately stepped in to drive us apart. Well, you have succeeded. You have taken away from me the only man I could ever care for—a man who really loved me until you came between us. Fortunately I am strong enough to go on without you, without either of you. But the scar of this wound you have inflicted will always remain."

To Miss Rosa, Jane's letter indicated that Jane was herself again and not utterly broken under the fiasco of her engagement.

For Amy there was no such comfort. When she saw Jane's letter she did not want to open it, and the actual reading overwhelmed her.

"Of course it isn't true that Howard asked her to marry him. Mother," she said, "but Jane by this time believes it's true. You know how she is."

"It's a very cruel letter. It sounds a little like 'East Lynne'. Are you going to write to her?" "I don't know, but I believe I shall. She's so alone."

Amy's letter was much shorter than Jane's. She did not take it to her mother to read.

"Dear Darling Jane," (she wrote) "if there is ever anything in the world I can do to show you that I did not intend to make you unhappy or to make up to you for the way you feel, I will do it. Anything. I am always your friend, no matter what you think. Amy."

And, having written this, she cried almost as frenziedly as Jane had done.

TROUBLE BREWS IN SHANGHAI AS JAPANESE RIOT

Conditions Twenty Years After the War

(This is the fourth of a series of six daily articles picturing conditions two decades after the shot that started the World War was fired, June 28, 1914.)

Paris, France, June 28 —(AP)—War scars of Paris have healed, the "devastated regions" of northern France have been rebuilt, but memories remain of the war which struck 20 years ago.

The great conflict left vivid recollections of air raids over Paris and, above all, of the daily bombardment by "Big Berthas."

In the country, devastated families till the ancestral patches which were withered by the heat of battle. In the industrial regions, elderly workers recall the days when they labored underground in mines which have been idle since the enemy flooded them.

And, dotting the regions where for four years the armies struggled, great cemeteries with their rows of white crosses testify to the size of France's sacrifice.

"Security" France, as the battleground of the greatest conflict in history has poignant memories. And those memories influence her today.

"Security" is the watchword of French policy at home and abroad. It is the key to her attitude toward disarmament, the gold standard and world trade.

It is the reason for her big expenditures for fortifications along the frontiers. Deputies wrangle over other budget items, but they vote billions for "security" and grimly decree "no war debt payments."

Twenty years ago French resorts were crowded and Paris hotels overflowed with tourists. Shops of the luxury trade flourished as jewels, gloves, gowns and lingerie passed over the counters to visiting Americans, English and Germans.

Whispers of Alarm The assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand on June 28, 1914, was scarcely heeded. Then the clouds gathered. "C'est la guerre" was whispered, questioning at first, Austria, Serbia, Russia, and Germany mobilized. Still the phrase was only a whisper.

France withdrew her frontier guards eight miles from the border and told them not to fire unless they were attacked. Gray-clad German hosts started through Luxembourg and crossed the Belgian border. Finally, days after other countries had sprung in arms, France called her sons to the colors.

"C'est la guerre" became a shout as columns clad in horizon blue headed eastward even as tourists by the thousands jammed the boat trains for Atlantic and channel ports.

Within a month German guns were thundering at the gates of Paris, the Paris garrison was rushing by taxicabs to stem the tide on the Marne. Scores of thousands of refugees, chiefly old men, women and children, trudged westward lugging household salvage from the villages.

"C'est la guerre," they said despairingly.

The struggle lengthened. Living conditions became difficult. Planes and the long range guns rained death from the skies.

"C'est la guerre," said the people resignedly.

Weariness later kaiserdom collapsed. The tri-color crossed the Rhine. Peace conditions pinched the new Germany, prices soared under inflation and "c'est la guerre" was the explanation.

And today the nation hears from afar the clump, clump of marching brown shirts, the gay tunes of swarming black shirts, and demands with one voice:

"Give us security!"

Tomorrow—Germany.

Midget Children in Baby Contest

Anita Schultz, age two and a half, and her sister, Dorothy, 4, enjoy listening to their parents play the saxophone in the Midget City at the new World's Fair. These children already are almost as large as their parents, being of normal size as is the usual case with the offspring of midgets. They have entered the contest sponsored by Sears, Roebuck to find America's most beautiful baby. Prizes amounting to $40,000 will be awarded winners of the contest.

An American Collegian Gets a Title in Britain

"I feel like I might shoot some pretty good golf today," Lawson Little, 23-year-old Stanford University junior, said as he entered the British Amateur golf championship finals at Prestwick, Scotland. And he did. Sinking 15 and 20 foot putts, the young American captured the match and title without losing a single hole in the final round, winning by the record margin of 14 and 13. In this picture Little, the third American in 30 years to win the title, is shown receiving the felicitations of his vanquished opponent, James Wallace, an unemployed Scotch carpenter.
